Methodist
The Sunday services of worship are again going to full time capacity. The vacationists are back again in Norway and all of the Sunday school teachers are at their tasks in the twelve o'clock hour. The adult vested choir returned to their usual places last Sunday morning and the full chorus rendered two special presentations arranged for mixed voices. In the evening at the hour of 7 o'clock the choir sang the hymns and inspiring message of the pastor and an unusually big audience was on hand. There was a delightful arrangement of music. Mrs. Clifford Painter of Boston and New York was the guest artist soloist Mrs. Painter sang from Handel's Messiah and another beautiful solo entitled "Heaven Is Not Far Away." This lady had to confess that under a different name she sings over the network of the Boston radio stations WNAC and WBZA as well as in the New York studio exchanges. The minister, Rev. Mr. Lyon, gave a brief but interesting preface to a new series of Fall sermons from the novel of Bruce Barton's pen "The Book Nobody Knows." Next Sunday evening, Sept. 13, a big attendance is already assured to hear the pastor in new revelations. Mrs. Tracy, mother of Erle Renwick, and Mrs. Painter were likewise

The "rally week" program at the church is being arranged by the Sunday school teachers under the direction of the minister. A very full week is anticipated. Activities for all the various organizations of the church is now being planned in an interesting program. Next Sabbath morning at the 10:30 service, the celebration of the Lord's Supper will

Rev. Mr. Lyon expects within a short time to give to the Advertiser columns a company of his winter schedule of activities at the church. Everybody is cordially extended a welcome to be present at all of our services; come when the bells summon. Beautiful flowers have recently decorated the pulpit, being given by Mrs. Charles Huff, Will Hamlin, Mrs. Carrie Philbrook, Mrs. Kate Howard and Mrs. Hiram Calef. Charles Wright of South Paris recently presented the pulpit flower committee with two huge displays of fancy gladioli.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE PLANS FOR A QUICK CAMPAIGN

The Farm Bureau Executive Board is making a vigorous attempt to get Oxford County members back to the 1930 level. County members of the eight district managers were appointed to conduct the campaign were appointed at the recent meeting of the committee at which detailed plans for the campaign were made. The plan is to campaign five sectional meetings to be attended by all community chairmen and committee members during the week of September 21.

On the following Monday, Sept. 28, all sections in the county will go out, cards in hand, and complete the campaign before night. All members can help by having their two dollars ready; then the job will be done, a prize will be won, and the committee happy as a "Son-of-a-gun". Results of the day will be reported by telephone from chairman to district managers and from managers to the county committee.

4-H CLUB LOCAL CONTESTS

SEPTIC TANKS

Casson N. Turner, the new engineer for the Agricultural Extension Service, tells us how a septic tank works and how it compares with an ordinary cesspool. He says:

"A septic tank is merely a tank, placed in the channel through which the sewage passes, for the purpose of slowing up and settling out the solids which drain from any of the home waste attachments. Engineers state that this compartment should be of a lasting material, that it should be twice as long as it is wide and that it must hold at least one day's run of sewage."

"The liquid which passes into these tanks day after day contains large numbers of bacteria, some of which multiply and grow rapidly under anaerobic conditions (absence of air) in the proper warm aerobic conditions (presence of air). Since this compartment is air tight, the action of anaerobic bacteria takes place, which breaks up many of the solids and change them into gaseous and liquid states. The rest being settled to the bottom forming what we call sludge."

"Part of the gas rises to the surface of the liquid in the tank and forms what we call a scum while the rest of it is drawn through a vent in the outlet and passes through the soil beyond the tank. The liquids which have been freed from solids and most of the gas is now run through absorption tile laid in the soil. This liquid is not free from bacteria, however, and should be seeped into the soil, where the large numbers of aerobic bacteria found in the soil will attack the impurities found in the septic effluent and change them into chemical forms suitable for plant food."

"These tanks have proven very satisfactory where installed in the proper way and in the proper location. They are a permanent fixture and require cleaning once in every five years, otherwise can be forgotten."

"Cesspools can successfully be used, first: where very little solid material comes through the sewage from the house, secondly, where the soil is sufficiently porous to take care of the seepage of each day's sewage discharge."

CANNED FOODS CONTAIN PROTECTIVE ELEMENTS

Says D. L. Colony, H. D. A.

Queries are constantly being raised: Is food out of a can a satisfactory substitute for the fresh article? Must I apologize for giving my family canned products instead of the fresh varieties?

The questions indicate a desire to know whether the minerals and vitamins are conserved or lost in canning. The loss of caloric as well as mineral matter is negligible. One should, however, bear in mind that water, soluble minerals, sugars and proteins are lost in the canning process and are lost if this liquor is discarded.

Dr. Walter H. Eddy, Director of Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health, and his colleagues, E. F. Kolman, have devoted eight years to the question of whether canning damages the vitamin content of fruits and vegetables. The answer that can be given today rests on actual measurement of the vitamin content of fruits and vegetables in the raw state; after preparation by the usual home cooking recipes and after submission to commercial canning procedure. They may be summarized as follows:

1. No appreciable amounts of Vitamin A are lost in the home cooking or canning process.

2. Vitamin B1 suffers some destruction in both home cooking and canning, but the product remains a good source of this factor if it is contained in abundance in the raw state.

3. Vitamin B2 or G is little affected.

4. There is usually some loss of Vitamin C. Canned peas lose about one-third of their raw content.

Vitamin C is the vitamin which prevents scurvy. There was a period in our history when scurvy was a constant menace to sailors, soldiers and explorers because their diets consisted chiefly of meat and fish and grain products and little or no fresh vegetables and fruits. The inability of men to subsist long without some scurvy received fresh demonstrations during the World War.

The teeth are found to be the first parts of the body to be affected by a deficiency of Vitamin C, and to the serious effect, there seems little doubt that the children may be in part due to a lack of food.

We may accept the canned fruits and vegetables as excellent sources of the vitamin. This conclusion is now supported by abundant evidence based on actual assays.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE PLANS FOR A QUICK CAMPAIGN

The Farm Bureau Executive Board is planning a vigorous campaign to get Oxford County back to the 1930 level. The plan is to hold a series of eight district meetings to educate the campaign workers. The first meeting of the committee was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Spaulding, extension clothing specialist, University of Maine, because the coordination committee of the National Retail Dry Goods Association have selected eleven shades which will be the ones emphasized by many merchants. This means that textile manufacturers, garment makers are likely to produce goods and garments of these shades in greater quantities than any other shades. The committee chose these shades as being the most favorable to the coloring of the greatest number of women. The colors selected, in addition to black, are called "Afrigue," a very dark brown, and "Bakara," a medium brown, both leaning very slightly toward red rather than yellow. "Kilino" green is an almost pure color of low value, very dark. "Malaga" red is a pure dark red, and "Bismarck" a rich navy blue.

Six brighter shades are recommended for sports clothes, young girls' dresses, or accents with darker shades. These shades are a neutral beige, called "La Playa," "Algerie," a rust color, which makes a good accent for black, the two browns, and combined with La Playa, for Bleu Marine. "Amberstone" is a dull gold, which may be used with the browns, blue, black, and green of the darker shades. "Tropic" green is a vivid, pure green, which can be used in small quantities, as buckles, buttons or insets with Afrigue, Bakara, Bleu Marine or Black. There is considerable talk of using this green with white as trimming for black. The green and white in this combination should not be in shiny textures. "Colonial" is a bright pure red and "Yankee" blue is a bright purple blue. Some stores will give these shades other names, but if they can be matched with the shades on the committee's color card, the name is of little importance.

A merchandise manager writing in "Retailing," recently said, "Over a great many years it has been discovered that the public uses each season very similar colors to those used the previous corresponding season." The article mentions the familiar brown, green, blue and black, that are invariably most frequently used as the basic colors of most cool weather outfits.

The color may be the same, but the most favored shades do vary from season to season, which makes a fore-knowledge of this season's shades useful to women who must buy new coats, dresses, or hats all.

Uncle Ab says if you make sure of your facts before you kick, you won't kick—many years it has been discovered that the public uses each season very similar colors to those used the previous corresponding season." SEPTIC TANKS Euseb N. Turner, the new engineer at the Agricultural Extension Service, has shown a septic tank works and how it compares with an ordinary cesspool. A septic tank is merely a tank, placed underground through which the sewage passes, for the purpose of slowing up and settling out the solids which drain from the house waste attachments. "Part of the gas rises to the surface of the liquid in the tank and forms what is called a scum while the rest of it is drawn through a vent in the outlet and passes through the soil beyond the tank. The liquid which has been freed from solids and most of the odor is now drawn through absorption laid in the soil. This liquid is not free from bacteria, however, and should be seeped into the soil, where the large numbers of aerobic bacteria found in the upper soil will break the impurities found in the septic effluent and change them into chemical forms suitable for plant food.

CANNED FOODS CONTAIN PROTECTIVE ELEMENTS
Says D. L. Colomy, H. D. A.

Quite as constantly being raised is food out of a can a satisfactory substitute for the fresh article? Most I agree for giving my family canned goods instead of the fresh varieties? The question indicates a desire to know whether the minerals and vitamins are preserved or lost in canning. The loss of vitamins as well as mineral matter is negligible. One should, however, bear in mind that water, soluble minerals, sugars and proteins go into the can water and are lost if this liquid is discarded.

Dr. Walter H. Eddy, Director of Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health, and his colleague, Dr. E. F. Kolman, have devoted eight years to the question of whether canning damages the vitamin content of fruits and vegetables. The answer that can be given today rests on actual measurement of the vitamin content of fruits and vegetables in the raw state, after preservation by the usual home cooking recipes and after submission to commercial canning procedure. They may be summarized as follows:

1. No appreciable amounts of Vitamin A are lost in the home cooking or canning process.

2. Vitamin B1 suffers some destruction in both home cooking and canning, but the product remains a good source of the factor if it is contained in abundance in the raw state.

3. Vitamin B2 or G is little affected.

4. There is usually some loss of Vitamin C. Canned peas lose about one-third of their raw content.

5. Vitamin C is the vitamin which prevents scurvy. There was a period in our history when scurvy was a constant menace to sailors, soldiers and explorers because their diets consisted chiefly of meat and fish and grain products and little or no fresh vegetables and fruit. The inability of men to subsist long without some scurvy would guard them against scurvy received from demonstrations during the World War.

The teeth are found to be the first parts of the body to be affected by a deficiency of Vitamin C, and to the scurvy is affected when scurvy is scarcely suspected, there seems little doubt that the scurvy may be in part due to a lack of Vitamin C in infancy and early childhood.

We may accept the canned fruits and vegetables as excellent sources of the vitamins these foods are called upon to supply. This conclusion is now supported by scientific evidence based on actual assays.

BUCKFIELD COMMUNITY PLANS NEW ORCHARD PROJECT

Numerous attempts to encourage the planting of trees have been made in the past but a campaign to cut down the new and unusual. Orchardists in Buckfield are planning to do just that, however.

The work will be started this fall, according to the Farm Bureau Committee, and will center around the removal of all unsprayed, worthless apple trees and natural fruit trees growing wild. The "Orchard Clean Up Campaign" as it has been titled, will be forwarded by means of exhibits at the local fair, meetings to discuss the habits of orchard pests and diseases, and demonstrations to show various methods of removing trees.

Points emphasized by the committee are:

1. The cutting down or girdling of all unprofitable, neglected trees that serve only as breeding spots for orchard pests.
2. Felling up of all "droop" trees, the unsprayed trees and from sprayed trees infected with the apple maggot.
3. Following of a careful spray program governed by the emergence of the fruit from traps located in the community.

Traps have already been constructed and located in an orchard in Buckfield.

EDGAR H. HUTCHINS

Edgar H. Hutchins died suddenly at Paris, Sunday noon, Sept. 6, of a heart attack, at the age of 60. He had been ill for some time. He was a native of Maine and had lived in Paris for many years. He was a member of the Methodist church and was a very kind and generous man. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hutchins, and several children.

Mr. Hutchins was the son of Carlton and Persis Hutchins, and was born in Andover, March 10, 1865. Most of his life was spent in Paris, where he worked as a carpenter. He and his wife lived for years in a house on Tremont street. Mrs. Hutchins died several years ago. He has two brothers in Andover and one in the West.

Services were held at Spiller's funeral parlors in Norway, Tuesday, at 1:30 attended by Rev. G. Howard Newton. Burial in Pine Grove cemetery.

MRS. AGNES A. COOKSON

Agnes A. Cookson passed away Monday, Sept. 7, at the home of her brother, Ernest H. Herrick, South Paris, after a long illness. Mrs. Cookson was born in Greenwich, Aug. 29, 1865, daughter of Dennis G. and Esther Brown Herrick. She has lived in South Paris for four years, coming here from Oxford. Her husband, William Cookson, a retired engineer on the Grand Trunk, passed away in 1927. Funeral services from the home of Ernest H. Herrick, Wednesday, were conducted by Rev. Eleanor B. Forbes of West Paris. Interment in Forest City cemetery, Portland.

Mrs. Cookson is survived by two brothers, Ernest H. Herrick, South Paris, and Dawson F. Herrick, West Paris.

PARTY CLIMBED MT. WASHINGTON

Twenty-seven from South Paris braved storm conditions, Sunday and made the ascent of Mount Washington from Pinkham North camp of the Appalachian Club. They returned to the base over the carriage road and shortly after when they were found, clouds enveloped the summit, but well down the slope fair weather was enjoyed. Each climber carried enough rations for two meals. Members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Edmunds, Miss Eleanor Haskell, Miss Lucinda Ripley, Morton Bolster, Merton Clifford, Robert Wise, Nelson Haskell, Alpha Thayer, John Chandler, and members of the Lindy Chase, Dever Thayer, Henry Chagnon, Ronald Wright, Gordon Wing, Thayer Russell, Teddy Chandler, Chandler Briggs, Edward Conrad, Albert Wise, Arthur Eastman, Gordon Grant, John Colby, Donald Whitney, Kenneth Williams, Penfold, Donald Witham, Herman Peabody.

The class of 1931, P. H. S. held an informal reunion, Saturday evening, in the "Underworld" where they were able to attend, but nearly twenty passed more or less time at the gathering. Cards and sociability was the entertainment and dainty refreshments were served. Members of the Young People's Club showing great activity the past summer, presented a benefit concert at the Universal Church, Tuesday evening. Guest artist was Albert Keeler of Norway, who sang two solos. Others taking parts were: Kathryn Green, soprano; Alpha Thayer, organist and accompanist; Reta Shaw, organist and reader; Melvin Rip, reader, and Dorothy Dean, violinist. The program was of a high order and appreciated by a large audience.

Miss Margaret M. Waterhouse has returned from Ketchikan, where she had employment during the summer.

Mrs. Evelyn Briggs, R. N., of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Chandler.

Two "Underworld" parties held in the Thayer Block recently brought together groups of about twenty young people. The first party was given by Albert M. Cready of Norway, the second by Miss Helen Anderson with Mrs. H. C. Anderson as chaperone. Bridge and dancing made up the program at both affairs.

Mrs. H. D. McAllister and son, Mr. McAllister, have moved to Farmington, where Mrs. McAllister will complete her course at Farmington Normal, and Howard will enter the training school. Mrs. McAllister has a year's leave of absence, resuming her teaching upon her return. The McAllisters have sublet their house to Mr. and Mrs. Belmont Adams, Mr. Adams being a teacher in the high school.

Miss Bernice Parsons, a counselor at Wavus Camps, Jefferson, during the summer, went to Portland, Tuesday, as a tutor of French and Latin.

Miss Mae Knapp, employed at the Proctor House in Naples the past season, has entered Farmington Normal School for a course in home economics. Gordon Stewart has returned from the Maine General Hospital, where he received treatment for knee trouble. He gets around with a cane and is doing nicely.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Buck leave Friday night for Des Moines, Iowa, as delegates to the National Convention, Sons of Union Veterans, and Allied Orders. Dr. Buck's dental office will be closed from September 12 to September 22nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ensson of Woodford were guests over the week end of Mrs. Ida Riteham.

Shaw's Orchestra played for a mid-night dance at East Bethel, Labor Day. Dances at Locke's Mills on Saturday night only for remainder of season.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Chandler, Robert Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emery of Mexico called on relatives here Monday, and attended the boat races at Norway Lake.

Mrs. Leon Maxim and daughter, Georgia, spent last week in camp at South Harpswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Barrows are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Flood and Mrs. Annie Flood at Bath.

Miss Alice M. Libby of Brookline, Mass., has been visiting Mrs. Lizzie Field on High street. She came from Naples after a visit with relatives.

The E. B. C. team of the Congregational church will hold a sale in the L. F. Pike store, Association Block, Saturday. This will be a rummage sale and a variety of articles may be purchased.

Services will be resumed at the Congregational church, Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. R. H. Colby's subject will be "The Challenge of the Present Crisis". Subject in the evening, "Vacation Values".

Schools commenced this week with a large enrollment. There will be some time out next week for county fairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Caswell and son started Tuesday by rail for California, where Mrs. Caswell's father, Henry Muzzey, resides. They plan to remain there several months and perhaps make a permanent home.

Bethel Fair

Good Show, With Large Attendance

Opening its two day schedule, Friday, Bethel Agricultural Fair had fair weather and got off to a fine start.

The track is a good one, though the rain made conditions less favorable than is usual. Horse races and show horses were on the program. The cattle there are mostly Shorthorns and Herefords, and a few grade Holsteins without a Jersey or Guernsey in the lot.

Horse Show

In the forenoon were the pony classes for children. In the class of youngsters 8 C. Woods, up heretofore at Sutherland Farm, was the winner, ridden by Nafay Philbrook, Virginia Woods owner; Gray Boy with Constance Philbrook up, took second place; and his owner in Shelburne, N. H.

In the three gaited class, walk, trot and canter, were some dandy horses. The first placing went to Minstrel Man, Mrs. J. C. Woods, up heretofore at Sutherland Farm; Caprice took second place, ridden by Mrs. J. Yates, Berlin, N. H. Dr. Brooks' mount of Rumford took third place, ridden by Miss French of Rumford.

In the five gaited class Meen Melody was first ridden by Helen Philbrook, a Sutherland Farm mount; Twilight Glow took second with Elizabeth Philbrook up. In the jumps Lyle Phillips of Bethlehem, N. H., took first place and Tom Warford of Sherburne was second.

Capt. R. Harrison of the Ravine House, Randolph, N. H., and Boston, was the judge.

In the afternoon again between heats of the races some mighty nice jumping was pulled. A number of horses were entered but the contest narrowed to one between Mr. Phillips and Tom Warford of Sherburne. To the amusement and pleasure of the spectators, it was necessary for the horses to take the hurdles and jump many times because each time at the pole barrier each horse knocked off the pole.

Finally Warford on Cammore cleared the pole easily. Mr. Phillips, who conducts a riding school in Bethlehem, was riding Tyrone, a beautiful big horse, though it weighs 1800 lbs., heavy for a jumper, but he is a great hunter and takes such a hurdle as this one daily, but there seemed to be something in the take off after a soft place in the grass or the near presence of the crowd.

The judges got busy with the cattle entries and soon selected the winners. The judges were Dana Morrill of East Bethel, Frank Morrill of Gray and A. B. Morrill of West Bethel. They placed the ribbons thus:

Milking Shorthorns

BOLSTER'S MILLS

The Weston-Spurr Family Reunion

All nature conspired to make an ideal day for the sixth annual reunion of the Weston-Spurr family, which was held, as usual, at the summer home of Mrs. Anna Weston Twitchell, in Harrison, Saturday, September 5th. The clear atmosphere gave distinct outline to the far-distant undulating hills, which seemed hardly higher than these broad farm acres, although they included Saddleback and Mt. Washington. Toward the last the tall, white spire of Bell Hill meeting house, where our ancestors so devoutly worshipped, pointed the Heavenly Way.

How perfectly kept this old home, which in furnishing and equipment is both antique and modern! Herein are found the old fireplace with the utensils for cooking therein; the old time furniture; the cards and wheels for making cloth; the "diddle" molds and powder horns; the old family Bibles and daguerreotypes; all contrasting with sanitary and electrical inventions of most recent date.

The clan began to assemble about ten in the forenoon and were most cordially greeted by the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Twitchell, whose kindness and generosity we all deeply appreciate. Every one brought his own golf, as it was mingled with happy greetings and jolly reminiscence entertained until the call for dinner. This was served in the house-nest garage suitably green covered tables. None needed to go hungry from those tables laden with all kinds of delicious food, including a beautifully decorated cake, brought by Mrs. Joseph Pitts, and strawberry ice cream.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Josephine Shedd Caswell presented a fine program, consisting of the singing of old favorite songs, clarinet solos by Delmore Robinson, whistling solos by Mrs. Maude Berry, Mrs. Gertrude Spurr Barrows was the first accompanist on the piano, for the afternoon. Mrs. Clara Spurr Berry read "Naming the Baby," followed by a short, witty encore. At the business meeting, conducted by the president, Forrest Longley, the officers chosen for 1932 are:

Pres.—Albert W. Weston.
Vice Pres.—Grace Spurr Gay.
Secretary.—Mrs. Spurr Gay.
Treasurer.—Virginia.
Program.—Josephine Shedd Caswell, Carrie L. Horv.

Voted to meet the Saturday before Labor Day, 1932, at the same place. There were forty present, the largest number ever, including:

Robert Spurr Weston, Brookline, Mass.
Albert L. Lowell, Boston, Mass.
Mrs. Louis Spurr, Lowell, Mass.
Carrie L. Horv, Arlington, Mass.
Josephine Shedd Caswell, Boston, Mass.
James Weston Stuart, Melrose, Mass.
James Scribner Spurr, West Palm Beach, Florida.

William P. Spurr, West Palm Beach, Fla.
Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Twitchell, Berlin, N. H.
Leicester Spurr Weston, Mechanic Falls.

Gertrude Spurr Barrows, Otisfield, Me. and Mrs. Delmore Robinson, Norway.

HARRISON

Barber Shop Burns

Fire early Wednesday morning completely destroyed the barber shop of Fred and Ray Lamb, with damage of approximately $2500, covered by insurance. Fire was supposed to have been started by an oil hot water heater, ignited early in the morning as was customary, after which Mr. Lamb went home to breakfast. Their whole equipment was saved but the flames ate through the wall into the general store of Fred J. Kilmer, who owns the building, and considerable damage was done by smoke and water to the exterior of the store, to perishable goods and to the apartment above occupied by Ralph Whalen. The Lamb equipment is already moved into another shop.

NORTH BRIDGTON

The summer people are rapidly leaving us, the camps have closed up. Freelove's Pavilion has closed. Saturday night was the last dance for the season. Schools open Monday, after a nice long recess for a few days.

Mrs. Florence V. Holden has let her rooms to the girl students at Bridgton Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Allen and family spent Labor Day in Bridgton with her father, William Lopenan.

Mrs. Lina Bowley and daughter are visiting her sister, Mrs. Roger Eastman, of Lovell, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Westworth of No. Sebago were callers one evening recently, of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Perley Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. George Coffin and family of Mechanic Falls were Labor Day callers at her grandfather's, Lewis Howard's and on her uncle and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Briggs and family of Harrison were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Howard.

Mrs. Ilean Smart (nee Minnie Allen) of Sweden, recently came and got her mother and went to Norway for a ride and to do some shopping.

Mrs. Perley Howard entertained her aunt, Mrs. Augusta Bryant, and cousin, Mrs. Myrtle Pendexter and two daughters, Alia and Iona, and son, Roger Pendexter, all of Bridgton, one day recently.

Mrs. S. C. Ridlon has her porch all screened in. Hannah and Annie Ridlon are in the corn shop working. Walter Ridlon of Massachusetts spent his vacation with his brother here as usual. He has returned home.

EAST OXFORD

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Whitman, last week, were Rev. J. P. Whitman, of West Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe D. Fairfield and family of Biddeford, Prof. Michael Gillespie of Seaside, Mass., Mrs. Elfred Haines and family of Kennebunkport and Mr. and Mrs. Luther A. Rhodes of Saco.

Mary A. Stone was the guest of Mrs. A. Chester Whitman a few days this week. Arthur M. Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Sands, Mary A. Stone and Rexford E. Felton attended State Fair at Lewiston, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Whitman went to Kennebunkport, Wednesday, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Whitman's sister, Mrs. Morrill, whose death occurred in Chicago, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Record and daughter Ruth are working in the corn shop at South Paris.

Henry Brown of New Jersey was calling on friends in this place, recently.
